RECALL REPLACEMENT CANDIDATE STATEMENTS

GOVERNOR

- Basically, a smaller president. Do not call them "little Presidents." It is illegal.
 - Apparently can be recalled if someone with money says they suck.
 - Is allowed double avocado and guacamole servings for no extra charge.

Buzz "Dick" Mann | Peeples Party

I worked in a slaughterhouse for 16 years. You learn a lot about government in the kill pit. The way the light leaves their eyes after the bolt goes through is glorious. It kills a piece of the man that does it. Soul numbing work. You do it so many times you can only think about the gun. The gun. They're stuck. So blissful in their own way. So close to the end.

I will fight for the rights to hunt down members of PETA and also raise taxes on cattle ranchers.

Clark Gregguy | Democratic Party 2

As a more moderate centrist than the current governor, my political skills are beyond reproach. Go on, try it, reproach them. You can't, can't you? I didn't think so.

I have a wife.

Doug Vranson | Republican

Taxes are supporting our police. The boys in blue are forest fires. Gangs are out of control in the state house. High speed rail kills seven thousand endangered birds every minute, and I am the only candidate willing to lower your taxes to build more of it.

Other candidates talk about our homelessness like it's a problem. It's a solution waiting to happen. An opportunity. By defunding public schools and converting them into apartments, we can build more prisons to solve the problem of drug rehabilitation.

Some people say I don't make much sense. California doesn't need those people. California needs me, me and my strong, guiding hand, to put things right. Forever.

Kaitlyn Jenner | Republican

LMFAO. LMAO. I am the closest thing to a Kardashian that you will get until 2024. LOL. Please do not vote for me. The scorpion and frog thing. Remember it? LMAO what have I done?

Kevin J. Blogogovog | Re-republican

Taxes I am the only candidate who is running on an issue everyone can get behind. Sure, I want to lower your taxes while raising the taxes on your most annoying neighbor, but I also want to ban clowns.

Every year, clowns terrorize hundreds, if not thousands, of children, pets, and yes, I'll admit it, grown men. It's time Californians stopped letting men in rainbow afros and big red noses pull balloons out of unidentified orifices and clomp around in oversized shoes. The polka dots hide too much. The makeup is offensive to me, as a pasty white guy. This has gone on too long.

I have a wife.

Deebra Citron | Lemon Party

I just want everyone to know that this was a lot cheaper than buying ad space! During a pandemic, you need a governor who knows that all diseases can be cured with lemons. That's why I wrote my book, Sour Power: The Power of Lemons. You can find it in the Religion section of most major bookstores. If you want to find out more about our political movement, the Lemon Party, please search for us online.

David Braneguy | Prepublican

Taxes aren't real. You may think they're real because you pay them, but in my 9 weeks as a real estate agent that people say they trust, I have discovered the truth: You don't have to pay taxes. When elected governor I will show all Californians how to avoid paying taxes by declaring themselves as a soveriegn entity-corporation that is from the planet Xibuk. This any my understanding of Real Estate will allow me to govern effectively from anywhere.

Wait, we don't have to include an image? Rosa, drop the image. Start over. I'm paying you to do dictation, damnit. Okay, so my name is now Marcus Blackman, we can think of a better one later. Rosa, don't write this part down.

I am for lowering taxes on hip and hop. We can finish this later. Rosa, don't write that. Oh for fucks' sake, you're fired, Rosa. I hate fivvr. There should be a damn law against that. Anyway, I'm sure I can figure this out. Voice to text. Send. NO SHIT UNDO.

I will enforce Law and uphold and support Constitutions of State of California and those of these United States of America. I will demand the same for you. Those that you elect into office. Sanctuary and Open Border Laws violate Laws and other items of our past that violate our Constitution. Must be corrected. Those who walk the halls of power have been in need of addressing for a long time. They went off the rails long ago. We have paid too much. WE all have had enough of it. I do not have a wife.

Larry Eldritch | Republican

My God died once, and it was no big deal for him. He just came back. I don't see why all these deaths are hurting the economy. It's just death. It happens to everyone. Some people even die more than once.

California gets a lot of sun. Some people act like that's a good thing. I don't. If elected, I will outlaw masks and vaccines. I will triple medical costs. The families of those who die will be given a small monetary bonus. That bonus will be larger if they will donate the body to my nonprofit. The obelisks will take care of the homeless. We must secure more onyx and obsidian!

Joey Gabagooliano | Democrat

I'm not a pervert, I'm just Italian. Also I am not corrupt, just Italian. I am a competent Italian man with an Italian wife. I love the deli in San Francisco and will make sure that baccalo is back on the menu across California.

Just an actual Pot Leaf | Greener Party

We're going to make marijuana finally legal in California. I will do this before any other candidate because I know how to get things done and also I have a time machine.
I am a real person and not a leaf, this is just my name.

Slabb Harddskul | Guns and Gold Party

Some men break when they kill another man, be it in a cold and calculated moment in an alleyway or in the thrill of battle. They say it takes something from them, whittles something away. That thing is weakness. Weakness radiates outwards, spreads itself when you consider others. You can never know what is inside others, because there is nothing inside others. They do not think and act like you do, like I do. They are empty shells to be filled with ideas. God, glory, forklift certification. My ideas on charter schools have been called "mad" and "unconsciable" but I know that the conscience is a lie, like all thoughts. I have a wife and two daughters and respect nothing.

Willikierino "Dub Dub" Jankspot | Freak Power Party

'California is faced with overlapping, difficult issues. We can shift our tax burdens off of middle class families and businesses that create jobs by preventing large corporations from extorting tax breaks from localities. Our water problems can be solved by reforestation in the north, requiring us to help immigrants gain citizenship. Repatriation of beavers and native flora will regenerate the San Jaquin River Valley and restore our agriculture industry. That must be moderated by less water-intensive crops, such as tomatoes and squash, the water from which can be harvested and returned. Nuclear energy must replace hydroelectric sources to allow the drop in power prices and let us rebuild our dangerously fragmented electrical grid. We can solve California's problems and save for the future without sacrificing ordinary people to the altar of progress.

Kiernan "Kevin" Kaulken | Double Republican

In 2016 I ran as a dynamic new outsider and won the same congressional seat that my father and grandfather had occupied. Our state government is out of touch and in our pockets. I will cut the taxes of 100% of Californians who are in the top 1% of Californians. Our police and fire departments are Hero Departments, and we will spend one billion dollars renaming all of them.

I will cut wasteful spending.

I am a wife and father.

Cauldens "Slim" Pickens | Hat Party

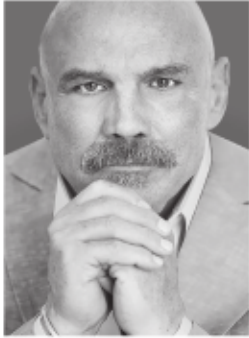

With global warming on the rise, Californians need more hats than ever before. I am the only candidate bold enough to offer new ways to make and purchase hats for your head.

Please vote for me, I am for the hat people. We can all be hat people if we have hats.

H Kilpatrick Hymes | Whig (Reformed)

Many of the candidates running for office will speak of their faith.

As an actor with more than 200 roles to my name I know faith. I have the highest OT score of any candidate running for governor. I can detect hunger in myself, and thirst in others. I can decide what color an object will be. If you are a Scientologist in California, you are required to vote for me. Doing otherwise will place you on a Suppressive Persons list.

I am not Jeff Bezos. I did not include a photograph so that you would not be biased against my claims due to the fact that I look like Jeff Bezos. My campaign promise of a "united California/Amazon economy" is about the country of Brazil, which houses the majority of the Amazonian rain forest, which you all love.

I am a human male. I have a father (male) and a mother (female). I have a normal number of teeth, all of which are filled with the appropriate amount of pulp, and none of them are hollow.

Tom Pampambliano | Free Oil Party

I love my wife.

Tom Reablin | Anti-Masonic Party

I am offering to shrink the government of California. A lot of people think that just means a lower budget, and it will, but I am the only person who can physically shrink the government of California, with my new shrink ray. A smaller government will be able to work more efficiently, with smaller buildings, cheaper transport costs, and low food costs. We could feed an entire prison with a single meal! Sure, some people say I'm a mad scientist, but I think I'm a pretty happy guy. I guess I AM interested in "showing them all," because I want to show the citizens of California a better, smaller government.

Nosef R. Atlan | Blood Republican (Reformed)

I came here in the gold rush of 1849. My family loves the bible and California. We are no longer attracting the young people my family needs. While Peter Thiel is doing wonderful things in the medical arena, I'm old fashioned. Our homeless population is on too many drugs, our young healthy joggers are on their phones and traveling in pairs because they don't feel safe.

I aim to change all that. Our biggest resource is people, people I need. Healthy Californians who get plenty of Vitamin D need to return to the state and displace our elderly and infirm.

Read your bible every day! My favorite verse is Proverbs 30:14.

Linda "Baby" Larue | Republican

You listen and you listen good, fuckstick. I am going to be governor of this goddamn state. Do I have to tell you a bunch of fucking bullshit like these other godforsaken cocksuckers? Will it make you feel better, you worthless piece of shit? Do you need to hear that we're going to worry about the homeless while the state bursts into flames? Pathetic. Fucking pathetic. You need me to tell you to fucking vote for me. Pull your vote out of your asshole and read it carefully, you degraded fuck knuckle, because it says Linda "Baby" Larue on there, doesn't it? Linda Baby. Say it again and I'll come to your fucking house and pay Gavin Newsome a thousand dollars to shit down your throat like it's the pope's golden toilet, you sack of piss and fear. Can you even read, you blithering jerkoff? Stop touching yourself and vote for Linda "Baby" Larue. Or fucking else.

Dav Milkson | Democrat

Oh god. Oh fuck. Just. Just vote for Linda "Baby" Larue, ok? Forget me.

Theodore Levine | Destiny and Ruin Party

I have programmed a machine that will act just like California, I keep her locked in a basement so that her secrets to governance will not escape. I have been to many countries, and they have all told me the secret to ruling a happy land that is prosperous. The secret is blood. Oregon and Washington will rue the day that Theodore Levine becomes President of California!

As a teacher I took an oath to uphold the United States Constitution. A distraught Kindergartener crying told me, "I love my mommy, I love my daddy, why can't I love them equally by living half of the time with each?" My teary eyed student wanted a 50/50 Child Custody arrangement prescribed by the 14th Amendment's Equal Protection Clause, I respect California's students.

Jer Jackwotz | Thumb Party

Homelessness. Wildfires. Droughts. Rampant income inequality. The same politicians offering the same solutions. Taxes out of control. Fees for housing. No affordable places to live. Cars filling highways that get bigger every year. Billboards promising things they can't possibly offer. Money is too tight. Hours too long. Minutes too. Dog might be sick. Can't afford to see the vet. Kid was coughing. Maybe that tire will hold on a few more days. Maybe it won't. Probably should get it changed. Money's not there, yet. Maybe put it on the card. Card's got a lot on it. Gas prices going up. Commute's too long, pay's too low. You bought a gun. Shouldn't have bought the gun. Only crime this year in your neighborhood was that guy selling pills. Shouldn't have bought the gun. Oh god why'd you buy the gun.

Nick Scratch | Republican

Neighbors, Nick is the only candidate who is a man of faith that REALLY follows through on that. Other candidates may go to church. They may even be preacher - or at least, play one on TV. But Nick Scratch is the real deal. Your ticket to a better tomorrow - a heaven on Earth, if you want it. Deal's easy, and I can make it happen. Other candidates may crack a bible, but Nick's the only one you'll find in it's pages - Matthew 4:1!

I took a lot of shrooms before I filled this out, California. I want to be honest with you. Some people deal with microdoses, but this was a heroic dose. Five dried grams. My pupils are like dinner plates. I took this picture in my high school. I stood in front of the background the kids use. They'll let you just walk into a high school, right? Anyway. It's really kicking in. Listen to my teeth, what do they tell you about California? A perfect taxation ratio, a golden mean for a golden state, a way to... I can see everything now. I can see through my fingers as they type. Thank you for electing me governor.

Nikolas Dreadstarr | X Party

Nikolas Dreadstarr is the only candidate qualified to be governor because Nikolas Dreadstarr is the onyl candidate who is from a 90s X-Men comic. That's right, Nikolas Dreadstarr, the clone of a guy who is from the future of an alternate dimension. Nikolas Dreadstarr has traveled through time to come to California to beat his older self - Nikolas Dreadstarr version 1 - at the ultimate game that only Nikolas Dreadstarr can play: Electoral politics and energy projection. That's right, Nikolas Dreadstarr can absorb energy - kinetic energy or photonic energy - and convert it into bioplasma beams that travel through X-Space. Nikolas Dreadstarr discovered X-Space, and it intersects with normal space in ways that your puny brain cannot comprehend. So vote for Nikolas Dreadstarr.
